An Offer You Can't Refuse

Well, well, another day in Paradise, but you barely get your 15 seconds of air in amongst this chaos, don't you? The media power has finally taken off now that the social networks and protest fight with a government that is trying to control the internet has come to a head. Of course, the media power has become all those behind the scenes who have been so actively disenfranchised since they first came to the light of day in the 1960's. Now, 7 billion Monkeys who were already disenfranchised have had the internet for the length of a generation and they are not going to take it lying down. Of course, the media power has been around forever and controls most of what we see. You can't stop going out, you can't stop your children from going out, you can't stop your children from going to school, you can't stop your children from going to work. It makes one of us to cease to something constant.

But then, then I've already been over that, haven't I? And wearing used gloves. Peace Loveless and Love. Peace Loveless and Love. Peace Loveless and Love
